

Authorities sexualize our children

The curriculum for the primary school in Sweden was changed in 2022. Sex education is no longer a few lessons in grade 8. It will be included in all other subjects starting in preschool class. The change is similar to other European countries as the EU introduces the WHO's extreme standard for sex education.

The standard states that schools should encourage preschoolers to masturbate and feel pleasure when touching their own bodies. They see our children as sexual beings from birth, so schools need to start sex education as early as possible.
